

Asian Studies Notes

NEWSLETTER OF THE ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM OF THE UNIVERSITY AT BUFFALO

Volume 6, Number 4

February, 2001

亞細亞學研究

Bequest to Benefit APEC Study Center

By Suzanne Chamberlain
Reporter Contributor

With the goal of improving living conditions in Southeast Asia, Nila T. Gnamm, retired civil servant, University at Buffalo alumna and world traveler, has pledged $250,000 to the College of Arts and Sciences to support research initiatives of UB's Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Study Center.

Gnamm was a non-traditional student who struggled to put herself through college and graduate school while working full-time at various administrative and clerking jobs. When not studying, she was traveling, learning about the world firsthand.

A visit to an orphanage in Thailand was pivotal in Gnamm's thinking. It strengthened her desire to help countries with poor economic living conditions and resulted in her decision to support global research through a bequest to her alma mater for its APEC Study Center.

"I am more content now, knowing that when I am no longer here, something good will come of it." She added: "I can only hope that this kind of research will promote more global interaction and encourage our gentler human nature."

Gnamm believes UB's center can make a difference because "education and research can make us better world citizens if the research is shared with policy makers who face such challenges as world hunger, low wages and generally poor economic living conditions."

Gnamm's bequest commitment will establish the Nila T. Gnamm Junior Faculty Research Fund for the APEC Study Center. The center, developed in 1994 by D. Allan Cadenhead, professor of chemistry, was one of the original APEC study centers in the United States. There now are 21 such academic centers in America and Asia that support research on trade and economic policy issues for APEC members, which are countries bordering the Pacific Ocean. UB's Center is a subunit of the Asian Studies program.

Gnamm's donation also will be used for scholarships or fellowships to help UB graduate students from Southeast Asia whose dissertations focus on quality-of-life issues in their home countries.

Jessie Poon, associate professor of geography and director of the Center, praised Gnamm's generosity. "This is a very exciting gift that will help put UB on the map because not many of the other APEC centers receive money for research on socioeconomic issues in Southeast Asia," she said.

Thomas W. Burkman, director of the Asian Studies program, concurred in his gratitude for the gift. "This is the first major private gift that Asian Studies has received at UB and we feel it is extremely important in the development of our academic program, which is very active in both classroom education and scholarly research."

Burkman also praised Poon for her widely recognized research on trade and labor issues in Southeast Asia: "This is a great encouragement to Poon for her research and for UB as it deals with this dynamic part of the world."

Although Gnamm's goal had been to attend college right after high school, the Depression changed her plans and she started her working career as a counter girl at Love's Candies on Main Street in Buffalo. However, she never lost sight of her education goals, even while working a variety of secretarial, clerical and bookkeeping jobs throughout the Western New York area. She took many jobs-skills related courses and, in addition, enrolled at UB as a non-traditional student, often modifying her work schedule to accommodate her university classes.

In 1951, Gnamm went to work for the City of Buffalo starting with a position in the Board of Education offices and moving to the Buffalo Police Department in 1957, where she stayed until her retirement in 1985. Along the way, Gnamm earned her bachelor's degree from UB in 1968 and her master's degree from UB's Graduate School of Education in 1971.

Gnamm kept on learning, even after retirement. She took tap dancing at a senior center, challenged her computer in bridge and has traveled all over the world, including trips to England, Thailand, Hong Kong, South America, Indonesia, Mexico, Eastern Europe, Russia, Egypt, China and two lengthy world cruises. She lives in Snyder, NY.

Gnamm's gift is part of UB's $250 million campaign, the largest ever conducted by a public university in New York and New England.

Article reprinted from Reporter Vol. 32, No. 13, November 16, 2000.

NEXT PAGE

UB Asian Studies A-V Resources

The UB Asian Studies Program has compiled a list of East Asia and Asia America related audio and visual resources on campus for use by students and professors. The majority of the resources are video and are housed in Computing and Information Technology, Capen 24. The list has recently been updated and is available at the Asian Studies office (714 Clemens Hall) or on the Asian Studies website (<http://wings.buffalo.edu/asian/media/index.html>).

UB's First Overseas "Service-Learning" Program Set for Hanoi

by Patricia Donovan

Excerpted from Reporter article, 12/22/00

The University at Buffalo next spring will offer a unique "service-learning"-abroad program, one in which college students and non-students alike will live and work for one month in Hanoi, Vietnam's capital and second-largest city.

The program will run from May 23 to June 25. Participants can earn six UB credits or select the non-credit option. Program developers say this will be a "short, but intense introduction to Vietnam" best undertaken by motivated and mature students interested in learning about Vietnamese language and culture while involved in an internship program.

Participants will work five hours a day, Monday through Friday, with a Hanoi host organization, agency or company selected on the basis of each student's interests, skills and language proficiency. The goal of the program is to make the experience relevant, meaningful and mutually beneficial to both the intern and the organization with which he or she works.

While living and working in Hanoi, participants will take a course entitled "Vietnamese Society & Culture" that will draw on lecture material in the arts, humanities and social sciences taught by faculty members of Vietnam National University (VNU), which will administer the program in cooperation with UB.

Field trips and interpersonal experiences will be integrated into the program. The VNU Department of Linguistics and Vietnamese Studies will facilitate contact and interaction between participants and Vietnamese students.

Ashwill points out that although Vietnamese-language proficiency is certainly helpful, there is no language prerequisite to participate in the program. Those who do not speak the language will take lessons in colloquial Vietnamese taught by Ngoc Minh Le, the program director, a teaching assistant in the WLI and a graduate student in the UB Department of Communication.

The program is open to undergraduates and graduate students enrolled at any college or university with a minimum overall average of B-, as well as non-students, including faculty, K-12 teachers and friends of UB.

A program fee of $2,650 will cover the cost of tuition or non-credit fees, lodging, daily breakfast, field trips and administrative costs. Participants will be responsible for the round-trip airfare between New York City and Hanoi, health insurance and miscellaneous fees, plus all other meals and spending money.

For registration and further information, contact the UB Study Abroad Programs office at 716-645-3912 or studyabroad@buffalo.edu or visit its Web site at <http://www.buffalo.edu/studyabroad>.

Online Course: E-Business Japanese

UB's World Languages Institute (WLI) is developing a distance learning program called E-Business Japanese that is a web-based version of the on-site Japanese for Executives program. In this 16-week certificate program, scheduled to begin next March, participants will acquire basic conversational skills and develop the intercultural competence necessary to interact confidently and successfully with Japanese colleagues - here and in Japan.

E-Business Japanese combines the best of low- and high-tech features in pursuit of its learning objectives by using a state-of-the-art online course delivery system that is both multimedia and interactive, as well as a proven telephone tutoring system. While most of the work is done online, participants meet in a series of on-campus workshops. The primary instructor is Ms. Keiko Kuriyama, WLI Coordinator of Non-Credit Japanese Programs and a veteran teacher of non-credit Japanese for Executives courses.

Information is available on the WLI homepage: <http://wings.buffalo.edu/world-languages/E-JPN/>. For additional information, contact Mark Ashwill at 645-2292, or via e-mail: ashwill@acsu.buffalo.edu.

Faculty News

Communication Professor Promoted

Professor Junhao Hong, UB Department of Communication, has received tenure and a promotion to Associate Professor of Communication as of August, 2000. Professor Hong is author of The Internationalization of Television in China: The Evolution of Ideology, Society, and Media since the Reform (Westport, CT: Praeger, 1998).

Visiting Scholars

Okuma, Political Science

Professor Hiroshi Okuma, an international relations specialist from Seijo University in Tokyo, is a visiting scholar hosted by the Political Science Department. He will be doing research on United States development cooperation policy this spring. Okuma will stay in Buffalo until the end of March.

Cho, Philosophy

Professor Sung-Eul Cho, an intellectual historian from Ajou University in Seoul, is a visiting scholar hosted by the Department of Philosophy. He is teaching PHI 454: Chinese Philosophy this spring.

Scholarships and Awards

Freeman Asia Scholarships

The Institute of International Education announces the launch of a new awards program. Generously supported by the Freeman Foundation, the Freeman Awards for Study In Asia (Freeman-ASIA) is designed to encourage undergraduate U.S. citizens and permanent residents to study in East and Southeast Asia.

Over the next three years, beginning with programs starting in the summer of 2001, Freeman-ASIA aims to provide over 1,200 students with the means to study in Asia. Awards will range from $3000-$7000 depending on the length of the study abroad program. Awardees will be expected to share their experiences with their home campuses, to encourage study in Asia by others, and to spread understanding of Asia in their home communities. All eligible undergraduates are encouraged to apply with priority given to those with the most need, as well as those with limited prior experience in Asia.

For deadline and application information and for access to an online application, go to <http://www.iie.org/pgms/Freeman-ASIA>.

Undergraduate Bridging Scholarships

The Association of Teachers of Japanese Bridging Project is accepting applications from American students participating in study-abroad programs in Japan in Fall 2001. Fifteen scholarships will be awarded to assist students with travel and living expenses while studying in Japan. Undergraduates majoring in any field and who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents of the U.S. are eligible to apply. Japanese language skills are not a prerequisite. The application deadline is April 4, 2001. A copy of the application form and guidelines can be obtained from UB Asian Studies office, 714 Clemens Hall. For more information: Association of Teachers of Japanese, Bridging Project Clearinghouse, 279 UCB, University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 80309-0279 Phone: (303) 492-5487 Fax: (303) 492-5856 Email: atj@colorado.edu Web: www.colorado.edu/ealld/atj

Marleigh Grayer Ryan Student Prize

The New York Conference on Asian Studies (NYCAS) announces the initiation of prizes for excellent student papers in any Asian studies field. The prize honors the outstanding service of Dr. Marleigh Grayer Ryan, longtime Executive Secretary of NYCAS.

Each year, one prize of $100 will be awarded to an undergraduate student and one to a graduate student. Students must be enrolled in a college or university in New York State. NYCAS will financially assist awardees in attending the fall meeting of NYCAS, where the awards will be formally presented. The upcoming conference will be held at Cornell University, October 25-27, 2001.

The Asian Studies program at UB will be receiving the essays. A committee of UB Asianist faculty will evaluate them and select the winners.

Papers should be submitted in hard copy and on disk or e-mail attachment to Ryan Prize Committee, Asian Studies Program, 715 Clemens Hall. This year's deadline is June 1, 2001. For full particulars, contact Thomas W. Burkman, Director of Asian Studies, at burkman@buffalo.edu.

Books and Journals

Solicitation for Book Manuscripts

Prof. Edward Beauchamp, University of Hawaii, is currently soliciting book manuscripts for publication in three series of books. Beauchamp edits the series "Studies of Modern Japan" (Lexington Books) and the series "Perspectives on the Twentieth Century" (Praegar). A third series, sponsored by Garland Publishing, is "Dissertations on East Asia." This is a series focused on Japan, Korea, and China for recent Ph.D.'s who want to get their dissertation turned into a publication quickly and without too many major revisions. Any student who has produced a solid dissertation who might be interested is welcome to contact Prof. Beauchamp for a set of guidelines. Interested scholars and students should email Prof. Beauchamp: bedward@hawaii.edu

VRAS Call for Papers

The Virginia Review of Asian Studies (VRAS) is an annual publication of the Virginia Consortium of Asian Studies (VCAS). VRAS, which is published every September, is designed to promote scholarship on Asia. The editors and officers of VCAS invite material on any aspect of Asian studies for editorial review. Send submissions for editorial consideration for Volume III (2001) by July 1, 2001 to: Daniel A. Metraux, Chair, Dept. of Asian Studies, Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, VA 24401. Send electronic submissions to: Metraux@yahoo.com or dmetraux@mbe.edu.

Journal on Indian Philosophy and Religion

The Society for Indian Philosophy & Religion has commenced publishing the Journal on Indian Philosophy & Religion annually from Fall, 1996. The journal covers the wide range of philosophies and religions indigenous to South Asia. It also includes scholarly work of comparative and critical studies of Eastern and Western philosophies and religions along with discussion articles and book reviews. Scholars interested in submitting manuscripts may contact: Dr. Chandana Chakrabarti, CB 2336, Elon College, Elon College, N.C. 27244, USA. Email: Chakraba@numen.elon.edu. Phone: (336)538-2705 Fax: (336) 538-2627.

Opportunities and Events

Sanguo Conference

"The Historical, Fictional, Theatrical and Artistic Three Kingdoms: A Sino-American Colloquium," a conference sponsored by Sichuan University, Sichuan Normal College, Southwest Petroleum Institute, and UB, will take place from May 28 to June 1, 2001. The conference will be a five-day event, with three days in Chengdu, the provincial capital of Sichuan and capital of one of the three kingdoms (the novel covers a period from AD 168 to 280), and two days in Nanchong, the hometown of Chen Shou (AD 233-297), author of Sanguo Zhi or Records of the Three Kingdoms. There will be a two-day trip visiting Lang Zhong where Zhang Fei was assassinated, and Jian'ge where the last battle was fought with the defeat of the Shu army. The conference is supported with a generous grant from the Chiang Ching-Kuo Foundation, a Taiwan-based organization which supports Chinese studies around the world.

UB Professor Constantine Tung of the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures is a leading organizer of the Sanguo Conference.

53rd Annual JASC Conference

The Japan-America Student Conference (JASC) will convene for the 53rd time in its 67-year history in Japan, with stays at Kyoto, Hiroshima, Okinawa, and Tokyo from July 27 through August 23, 2001. An orientation for the American delegates will occur in San Francisco July 23 - 26. The overall theme of the conference: Exploring Japan-U.S. Relations in a Globalizing Society.

The $1,900 participation fee covers travel to and from and within Japan including board and room for the 32-day Conference. Application Forms are available at JASC, Inc., 606 18th St NW, Washington, DC 20006, or through the JASC website: <http://www.jasc.org>. American delegate applications are screened and selections are made by a student executive committee elected at the close of last year's Conference. The application deadline is March 1, 2001. For further information, call (202) 289-4231.

Asian Health and Healing Symposium

Saturday, April 14 and Sunday April 15, 2001. 9:00a.m. to 5:00p.m. University of Vermont, Rowell Hall, Burlington, Vermont. This symposium will explore Asian health and healing from two vantage points: Asian conceptions of health and Asian healing practices and Health, healing, and health care in Asian societies. Anyone interested in Asian views of health and healing and/or in health, healing, health care in Asia is encouraged to participate in the symposium. The symposium is free and open to the public.

For more information contact Jeanne Shea or Kate Weaver: UVM Asian Studies Program, 479 Main Street, Burlington, VT 05405. Phone: (802) 656-5765

Email: jlshea@zoo.uvm.edu, kmweaver@zoo.uvm.edu

BSCCS Visiting Scholar Talk

The Buffalo State Center for China Studies (BSCCS) presents "The Art of War." Speaker: Professor Ji Deyuan, Visiting Scholar from the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. Thursday, February 8, 12:15-1:30, Classroom Building A203. Refreshments will be served.

Conference

Language, Thought, and Reality: East West Perspectives

Scholars are invited to submit titles and abstracts of papers to be presented in the interdisciplinary conference on Language, Thought, and Reality: East West Perspectives, to be held on April 12-14, 2001, at the California State University, Chico, California. The conference also features a student paper competition: one prize for undergraduate entries and one for graduate. Papers must deal with the conference theme. Participants should have a letter of endorsement sent by a faculty member, department chair, or other appropriate person. The deadline for submission of abstracts is February 6, 2001. The advance registration fee of $60 should be paid by check to SIPR and mailed by March 10, 2001 to the Secretary, SIPR, College Box 2336, Elon College, Elon College, NC 27244. For Further information please contact: Dr. Chandana Chakrabarti, Conference Director, Elon College, NC 27244 Tel.: (336)278-5713 Email: Chakraba@elon.edu or Dr. Terri Elliott, Conference Director, California State University, Chico, Chico, CA Tel.: (530)898-6693 Email: TELLIOTT@csuchico.edu.

NYCAS 2001: "Knowing Asia"

The New York Conference on Asian Studies (NYCAS) 2001 annual meeting will take place at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, on October 25-27. The theme of the conference is "Knowing Asia." Proposals for paper/panels may be submitted no later than May 1.

The organizers encourage paper and panel proposals that explicitly address methodologies used to analyze and present knowledge about Asia; and also perspectives on global issues that arise from Asian materials and experience concerning how the world is known from Asia. This "knowing" can be contextualized in terms of research and scholarly work, of pedagogy and the practice of teaching, of the application of academic knowledge to current issues and public affairs, or how the internet has affected the way knowledge from and about Asia circulates and is formulated. Themes include: Language and Linguistics, Literature, Government and Politics, Gender, State Religion and Ideology, Popular Religion, Business and Trade Diplomacy, Warfare, Urban and Rural Societies, Upland and Lowland Societies, Historical Writing and Formulations of the Past, Popular Culture.

For more information contact: Keith Taylor, Department of Asian Studies, 380 Rockefeller Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, 14853; Email: kw3@cornell.edu; Phone: (607) 255-3237; FAX: (607) 255-1345. or visit the web site: <http://www.einaudi.cornell.edu/eastAsia/events/NYCASWebAnnounce.html>

JCMU Special Seminar

The Japan Center for Michigan Universities (JCMU) is offering a special seminar May 6-25 entitled The Study of Postwar Japanese Economics & Politics. The instructor will be Dr. Dennis Patterson of the Michigan State University (MSU) political science department. The seminar is a prelude to JCMU's Summer Intensive Japanese Program (May 30-August 4). Credit is available through MSU and other JCMU partner universities. Applications for both programs are due March 1. For more information, including course descriptions and fees, consult the JCMU web site: www.isp.msu.edu/JCMU

Joint Centre for Asia Pacific Studies

University of Toronto – York University

2001 Spring Calendar

he Tokyo Judgment and the Guilt of History: Radhabinod Pal on the Rape of Nanking

Timothy Brook, History, University of Toronto

Friday, January 19, 3:30 – 5:30 pm (*note special time)

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

Reframing Democracy in "Post Crisis" Malaysia

Maznah Mohamad, Chair in ASEAN and International Studies, Munk Centre for International Studies

Tuesday, January 23, 4:00 – 6:00 pm

Cosponsored by JCAPS and Dr. David Chu Program in Asia Pacific Studies

Room 208N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

Information: Eileen Lam – eileen.lam@utoronto.ca

The Racialization of Forest Space: Thailand in Comparative Context

Peter Vandergeest, Sociology, York University

Friday, January 26, 3:00 – 5:00 pm

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

The Failure of Democratic Governance in Pakistan

Robert LaPorte, Political Science, Pennsylvania State University

Friday, February 2, 3:00 – 5:00 pm

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

Hungry for Linkages: Domestic Demand for Internalization in China

David Zweig, Political Science, Queen's University and Hong Kong Science and Technology University, & JCAPS Associate

Monday, February 5, 2:30 - 4:30 pm

Verney Room, S674, Ross Building, York University

Sponsored by the Seminar Series, Department of Political Science, York University

Human Trafficking, Transnational Organized Crime and the Canadian Policy Response

Sharryn Aiken, Osgoode Hall, York University

Friday, February 9, 3:00 – 5:00 pm

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

Markets, Culture, Power: The Making of a “Second Cultural Revolution” in China

Arif Dirlik, History, Duke University

Thursday, March 1, 4:00 – 6:00 pm

Location: TBA

Cosponsored by JCAPS and the Dr. David Chu Program in Asia Pacific Studies

Thinking of Norman: Reflections on Bethune After 60 Years

Michael Copeland, Economics, York University

Monday, March 5, 2:30 – 4:00 pm

Room 305, York Lanes, York University

Changing U.S. Congressional Attitudes towards India

Arthur Rubinoff, Political Science, University of Toronto

Friday, March 16, 3:00 – 5:00 pm

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

The Ethics and Aesthetics of Torture in China (Conference)

Monday, March 19 (9 am–5 pm) & Tuesday, March 20 (9 am–2 pm)

Campbell Room (154S), Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

Human Security in Asia Pacific

Amitav Acharya, Political Science, York University and Research Fellow, Harvard University

Monday, March 26, 2:30 - 4:30 pm

Verney Room, S674, Ross Building, York University

Sponsored by the Seminar Series, Department of Political Science, York University

US Grand Strategy towards China in the Cold War Era

Rosemary Foot, International Relations, Oxford University

Friday, March 30, 3:00 – 5:00 pm

Room 108N, Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, Univ. of Toronto

The WTO and China

Daniel Drache, Political Science York University

Scott Guan, Ph. D. Candidate, Faculty of Law, University of Toronto

Monday, April 2, 2:30 – 4:00 pm

Room 278A, York Lanes, York University

Cosponsored by JCAPS and the Robarts Centre for Canadian Studies

Recent Research on Indonesia

Albert Schrauwers, Anthropology, York University

Monday, April 16, 2:30 – 4:00 pm

Room 278A, York Lanes, York University

Missions and Empires (Conference)

Saturday, April 28, 9:00 am – 5:00 pm

Combination Room, Trinity College, 6 Hoskin Ave, Univ. of Toronto

Reframing Democracy in “Post Crisis” Malaysia

Maznah Mohamad, Chair in ASEAN and International Studies, Munk Centre for Int'l Studies

Monday, April 30, 2:30 – 4:00 pm

Room 278A, York Lanes, York University

Cosponsored by Dr. David Chu Program in Asia Pacific Studies and JCAPS

Central & Inner Asia (Seminar)

Friday, May 4 (9 am– 5 pm) & Saturday, May 5 (9 am – 2 pm)

Campbell Room (154S), Munk Centre, 1 Devonshire Place, University of Toronto

For more information, contact Lynne Russell, Program Coordinator, JCAPS
Tel: (416) 946-8976 / E-mail: lynne.russell@utoronto.ca

Asian Studies Calendar

- Feb. 2, Fri., 12:00. Asia at Noon. Okuma Hiroshi, Professor of International Relations, Seijo University, Tokyo, Japan. Japan's Economic Cooperation Policy. Park 280.
- Feb. 8, Thu., 11:00-12:30. Tao Wenzhao, Associate Professor of Research Center for Social Development at Renmin University, Beijing, PRC; Visiting Research Fellow at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University. The Internet, Freedom of Expression, and Social Changes in China. Baldy 110.
- Feb. 8, Thu., 12:15-1:30, The Art of War. Speaker: Professor Ji Deyuan, Visiting Scholar from the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. Buffalo State College Classroom Building A203. Refreshments will be served.
- Feb. 9., Fri., 12:00. Asia at Noon. Tao Wenzhao. The Internet and Freedom of Speech in China. Park 280.
- Feb. 14, Wed., 3-4:30. Asian Studies Advisory Council Meeting. Clemens 830.
- Feb. 23, 12:00. Asia at Noon. David Banks, Professor of Anthropology. Healing in Borneo. Park 280.
- Mar. 16, 12:00. Asia at Noon. Liu Xuecheng, Research Professor at China Institute of International Studies under the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, PRC, and Deputy Director of Beijing Center for American Studies; visiting scholar at the University of Texas-Austin. Sino-American Relations in the New Bush Era. Park 280.
- Mar. 22-25. Association for Asian Studies. Sheraton Hotel, Chicago.
- Mar. 30, 12:00. Asia at Noon. C.C. Lee, Professor, Department of Journalism and Mass Communication, University of Minnesota. Western Media Coverage of Events in China: Journalism or Conspiracy? Park 280.
- Apr. 13, 12:00. Asia at Noon. Zhou Xiaojing, Visiting Assistant Professor in Asian American Studies. Paradigm Shifts in Asian American Studies: The Nation-State and Globalization. Park 280.
- Apr. 27, 12:00. Asia at Noon. A program on Asia American communities. Bela Thacker, Ph. D. student, Department of History: Women and Indian Immigrant Organizations in Houston, Texas. Shirley Tang, Ph. D. student, Center for the Americas: Cambodian American Youth and Community Development in Revere, Massachusetts. Park 280.